

Leksi and Studo join forces

Studo is now active in Slovenia

GRAZ, MARIBOR/April 2022. "A joint journey to support students and universities" brings together two educational technology companies: The Graz-based educational-technology company Studo is joining forces with Leksi, a Slovenian student app provider.

Since 2018, the Leksi team has been working on an app to make studying easier for students all over Slovenia. The Leksi app, just like its Austrian counterpart Studo, combines the entire study process in one easy-to-use tool and quickly became very popular – both among students and universities.

Developing high-quality digital services for students and universities is a mission that the Leksi team shares with the Graz-based Studo team. Through this shared mission, the Leksi and Studo teams got to know each other in 2019 and quickly became aware of potential synergies. Starting with conversations about current development issues, the collaboration became increasingly constructive. The teams shared with each other knowledge, ideas and ultimately also resources for development.

"Starting in April 2022, Studo and Leksi want to take this collaboration to a new level. Therefore, Studo and Leksi decided to join forces concerning app development, communication and management. The Slovenian team will be reinforced by the Studo team and together will be able to support Slovenian students and universities even better in the future," explains Studo-COO Andraž Hajdenkumer.

Find out more about their journey together under the name of Studo on: <https://studo.com/si/>

About Studo:

Studo is an educational technology company based in Graz (AT), Düsseldorf (DE) and Maribor (SI) and is engaged in digitization solutions for students and universities. Since 2016 Studo offers an organization app for students. The app is currently used by over 350,000 active users in Germany and Austria, most of whom are students, but also university employees. 35 universities are already cooperation partners of Studo. The app organizes courses, timetables and mails and with the integrated chat and newsfeed offers a platform for students at the respective universities.

Contact:

Isabella Zick

isabella.zick@studo.com

+43 664 4400086

Studo – Reliable Services for Students and Universities
Joanneumring 3
8010 Graz, Austria